

AN ONE DAY SEMINAR
ORGANISED BY DEPT. OF PHILOSOPHY
UNIVERSITY B.T. & EVENING COLLEGE

A seminar was organized by the department of philosophy university B T and evening college cooch Behar on 21st November 2019 at room No 16 of this college.

The main objective of this seminar was to highlight ethical duties, environmental awareness and value-based living. At the very beginning Dr. Riki Chakraborty, convener of this programme has introduced the eminent speaker prof Nirmal Kumar Roy, Department of philosophy, NBU. The program was inaugurated by Dr. Subhash Chanda, principal of this college. In his inaugural speech he mentioned the Professor Nirmal Kumar Roy Department of philosophy, NBU in his lecture clearly mentioned that the ethical perspective of Bhagavad Gita aims to guide individual towards a life of righteous duty and selfless action to achieve ultimate self-realization and liberation. He also opined that the ethics in Gita aims to maintain world order and social cohesion.

During the lively discussion questions, suggestions, opinions from the participants made valuable contribution to the interesting topic.

The seminar concluded with a vote of thanks by Dr. Riki Chakraborty convenor of this programme.